WEDNESDAY'S LUNCHEON SPEAKER

SIMON PEARCE
WWW.SIMONPEARCE.COM

We are extremely pleased and honored to open our 2016 CTAWWA / CWWA 45th Annual Joint Conference with a presentation by Simon Pearce, founder of SIMON PEARCE. Over 40 years ago, Simon opened his first glass-blowing workshop to create handcrafted glass using old-world techniques in Kelkenny, Ireland. In 1981, Simon restored a historic woolen mill and moved his operation to Quechee, Vermont. Having left Europe in search of independence from European business constraints and high energy costs, a hydroelectric turbine was incorporated into the mill's restoration to harness the power of the Ottauquechee River. Recognized around the world and embracing a forward-looking philosophy of concept and exploration, SIMON PEARCE designers and artisans still practice the same principles and techniques Simon brought with him from Europe. Today, Simon Pearce has three glass-blowing workshops in Vermont and Maryland, leveraging the skills of 49 glass-blowers. Simon continues to nurture a new generation of glass-blowers, who begin as apprentices to learn the brand's unique glass-making recipe, hand-blowing and forming techniques and designs, attaining the highest levels of master craftsmanship. To learn more, visit SIMON PEARCE at www.simonpearce.com and consider visiting the Quechee location on Thursday or Friday to enjoy glassblowing demonstrations, shopping, and fine dining on handmade Simon Pearce glass and pottery in the Mill Restaurant.
